REVIEW OF THE YEAR

PRESENTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING, JUNE 10, 1957

Through the winter the Museum received a stimulating shot in the arm in obtaining approximately 2100 new members. This comes close to doubling our membership. The increase is a great help to our finances, and creates a healthy, broadened support. We thank Mr. John B. Leake and the three hundred volunteer workers and others—we trust that the effort will be a continuing one.

Our Exhibition Year commenced with a reception graciously given by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly on the occasion of the presentation to our Fashion Wing of Princess Grace's wedding gown.

Miss Jean Gordon Lee, our Curator of Oriental Art, spent an active summer and early fall in the preparation of a magnificent Chinese porcelain exhibit comprising the Alfred and Margaret Caspary Memorial Gift. The Opening on October 4th was staggering in the beauty of the porcelains themselves and their display. If there were an "Oscar" award for distinction in arrangement of art exhibitions, many would believe that this exhibition should have received the award. We owe a debt of gratitude to Rohm & Haas for their generous cooperation and their marked technical help in creating the Plexiglas cases. Our own craftsmen are to be congratulated upon the making of the wood frames in conformity with Chinese design.

Our Print Galleries in November displayed selections from the Print Collection of The Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. The exhibition was entitled, "Great Prints, 1440-1940." It was the first time that the richness of that collection was made apparent.

Through the winter Mr. T. Edward Hanley, a distinguished collector, with marked generosity lent us one hundred and twelve items of drawing, water color and sculpture, selected from his collection. Many of the items had never before been on display and those who attended the Opening Reception, kindly given by Mr.

and Mrs. Herbert C. Morris, had a thrilling experience.

A contribution to the knowledge and appreciation of American craftsmanship at its best was made through the superb exhibition of Tucker china, the first porcelain made in America and a product of Philadelphia through the short period of 1825 to 1838. Through the generosity of Mrs. Rodolphe M. de Schauensee and Mr. Philip H. Hammerslough—whose loans and advice were particularly appreciated—a catalogue of the exhibition was prepared, which will remain an authoritative word on the subject. Mrs. John Wintersteen was our hostess at a charming Opening. Mr. McIlhenny and Mr. Madeira and Miss Wolfe are indeed to be congratulated on the result and the lenders are to be thanked for their willingness to create the exhibition. Mr. Jayne's "Prefatory Note" to the Catalogue is a model of its kind—witty and thorough. Special acknowledgment and thanks are due Mr. Bart Anderson and Mr. Arthur J. Sussel for contributing knowledge and enthusiasm.

Through the spring Mr. Zigrosser has displayed his scholarship and taste in the exhibit of Expressionist Prints. It is one of the first exhibits in this field in America. It is contemporaneous with the publication of Mr. Zigrosser's book, "Expressionist Prints." Each item in the Exhibit belongs to the Museum.

Our collections have been much enriched during the year. Titian's "Virgin and Child with St. Dorothy," purchased with funds bequeathed by the late George W. Elkins, we feel is a masterpiece of the High Renaissance—a field in which our collections were markedly weak; and a Winslow Homer, "Gloucester Farm," was acquired by funds left us by the late John H. McFadden, Jr., adding to our already rich collection of Homer.

With Museum funds supplemented by gifts from private individuals the Museum has acquired the most important group of Indian stone sculptures to be seen outside of India. Formerly lent anonymously to the Museum and displayed since March of 1950 in three South galleries of the Oriental Wing, the 49 pieces have evoked great interest not only among scholars of Oriental Art but also from many modern Western artists. Although shown at the Philadelphia Museum for the first time in America, the collection was exhibited in England at the Burlington Fine Arts Club and the Victoria and Albert Museum in London and the Indian Institute of Oxford University. Three pieces were selected to enhance the large exhibition of the art of India and Pakistan held at the Royal Academy in 1947-48 to which the government of India lent many of its artistic treasures. These pieces which are preserved now for art students and the general public will bring before them in concentrated form the essence of Indian art. The Philadelphia Museum is proud to be able to continue to exhibit Indian sculpture of such rarity and magnificent quality.

Mrs. Carroll S. Tyson has given us seven Chinese ceramic pillows ranging in date from the tenth century to the thirteenth century—a beautiful and rare acquisition.

From funds supplied by Mr. Jay Cooke, our Trustee, were purchased two striking paintings by Alessandro Magnasco, which fill gaps in our Italian paintings of the eighteenth century.

Mr. Walter M. Jeffords, always of help, especially with respect to our Silver Collection, has given us thirty-five pieces of important Philadelphia silver, and under the will of the late Robert R. Logan we received numerous pieces of silver of esthetic and historic significance. These gifts, together with certain purchases made from our Philadelphia Silver Exhibition, make us eager for the completion of our Silver Gallery now under contract with funds appropriated by the City.

Mrs. Horace Binney Hare gave us fifteen etchings by her aunt, Mary Cassatt, being the very ones retained by that great artist, framed under her direction and hung in her home in France. It was our good fortune to add to our extensive collection of Pennsylvania German material a large cupboard, known as a Schrank, made probably in Lancaster County and dated 1782. Miss Frances Lichten, learned in the field, has generously volunteered to catalogue the Pennsylvania German collections of the Museum.

Many, many other gifts were made to the Museum during the past year. We are indeed grateful for the spirit and generosity of the unnamed donors.

In the fall was passed a milestone in the history of the Museum and its collections. All of the items, numbering in the thousands, remaining in Memorial Hall, were transferred to the Museum and the key to the famous Hall turned over to the Commissioners of Fairmount Park. Though many Philadelphians have happy memories of the displays in Memorial Hall, we are certain that the transfer to the Museum Building, where study rooms have been erected and new display rooms placed under contract, will create a more effective administration and add to the best uses of the items concerned. Mr. Barhour, our Superintendent of Buildings, and his staff did a splendid job in the removal without breakage or loss.

We sold the late Mr. McFadden's place in Ellendale, Memphis, Tennessee, at a gratifying price. Mr. Kimball's executors have entered into a contract to sell the house in New Hampshire which he inherited a few months before his death.

Construction work has gone on apace on the Japanese Tea House, Temple and Garden; with respect to the last named, Dr. John M. Fogg, Director of the Morris Arboretum, has been of great help in obtaining stones for the garden and paths and in giving botanical advice and furnishing plant material. We hope for a Gala Opening in October.

Our Restoration Department during the year has given minor but essential care to approximately two hundred and sixty paintings; seven paintings were relined, cleaned and restored; with funds from the Restoration Fund we purchased needed modern X-Ray equipment.

In collaboration with the Department of Fine Arts of the University of Pennsylvania, there was this year instituted a course in Museum Training for students of the University. This, we believe, will prove a valuable contribution to museum work throughout the country.

For many years the Museum has been served by an obsolete and unsightly heating plant southeast of the Museum. The Commissioners of Fairmount Park put into operation a new plant in the fall of 1956 and have now demolished the old plant—the relief of us all.

We look forward through the summer to the high delight of having our transient galleries hung with the masterpieces from the Maurice Wertheim Collection, the Henry P. McIlhenny Collection and Mrs. Carroll S. Tyson's Collection. These will indeed be a display! We are under deep obligation to the owners.

Contracts have been let for the building of the new galleries for the Decorative Arts. We have pending an application before the Planning Commission for an appropriation to build in permanent form, with inclusion of French sixteenth century architectural units the gallery known as the Rubens Gallery and other galleries built thirty years ago with temporary materials. Thus, little by little, the interior of our great building is approaching completion. There is one item, however, for which we must some day find a generous donor—that is the completion of the Auditorium under the Great Stair Hall. No more acceptable gift could be made to the Museum than funds to do this.

During the year we welcomed to membership on our Board of Governors Mrs. Carroll S. Tyson and Mrs. John H. McFadden, Jr.

We regret the resignation of Miss Alice Margaret Goudy, who, in all respects, has been a generous worker and donor through a number of past years. We are pleased to announce the appointment of Mrs. Henry Peter Borie who will take over Miss Goudy's duties as Director of Public Relations.

As an indication of part of the activity of the Museum, we have lent to about twenty-five museums throughout the United States approximately fifty significant items from our collections—in addition to many temporary loans for other purposes.

The Department of Education, under Mr. John Canaday, has had an active year. It has circulated to institutions and individuals approximately 20,000 slides and 200 films on art; approximately 20,000 people attended the guided tours and lectures, and a total attendance of approximately 15,000 in the classes for adults and children. Mr. Canaday is to be complimented on the distinction of the Albums he has written on Sienese painting and the art of Jacques Louis David at the request of the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Without mentioning names, we desire to express the appreciation of the Board of Trustees to those generous citizens who contributed approximately $40,000 to overcome the necessary deficit in Museum operation.

PHILADELPHIA MUSEUM SCHOOL OF ART

Our Museum School has, for 81 years, been training artists and designers. It is estimated that over 5000 alumni of the School have gone into the fields of art and education. The curriculum is designed to train students for professional competence in 10 major art careers: Advertising Design, Art Teacher Education, Dimensional Design, Fabric Design, Fashion Design, Fashion Illustration, Illustration, Industrial Design, Interior Design, and Photography.

The face-lifting of the front of the building has been completed by emphasizing the central portico, making it an outstanding monument of the Greek Revival period. The worn marble steps have been replaced, a disintegrated cast iron fence removed and replaced with low granite walls. Other major improvements include the construction of a new plaster workshop and a series of darkrooms for our expanding Photographic Department, now considered the best equipped of any design college in the East.

An impressive schedule of exhibitions started with a showing of John Marin drawings early in October, followed in December by an exhibition of stained glass designed by Marguerite Gaudin for the Henry Willet Studio; then "The Best of Harper's Bazaar" and "Create a Star"; the Student Christmas Exhibition; "Cover Designs for Paperback Books" in January; "Meet Our Instructors" in March; the Alumni Show in April; and "Young Designers," the annual comprehensive exhibi-bition of student work, opening in May and running through July 5th.

An enlarged calendar of student activities provided six concerts by professional musicians performing widely varied works and using both old and new musical forms, as well as a diversity of instruments. The music for these concerts was provided by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industries, in cooperation with the American Federation of Musicians, which affords the students the opportunity of hearing free concerts of the highest professional caliber.

The Spring Dance, held at the Museum for the first time and attended by more than 500 students, was an impressive party in a magnificent setting.

Such other student activities as a costume ball, Freshman Dance, Christmas Party, Talent Night, four outstanding feature films in addition to the bi-weekly film showings, a Faculty play reading, and a student production of "The Importance of Being Earnest," rounded out a full schedule of activities.

One hundred students graduated on June 3rd. At that time several awards were made. The Awards for Distinguished Achievement in the Arts by Museum School Alumni were made to the internationally famous artist, Charles Sheeler, and to the highly talented sculptor and dimensional designer, Wharton Esherick. The Museum School Design Award this year went to Stephen Bosustow, whose UPA of America animated cartoons have made a great contribution to this unique art medium. A special citation was given to Gertrude Schell, who is retiring this year after thirty-six years of devoted service to the School.

The School's Fashion Departments had a monthly schedule of guests which included such outstanding designers as Bonnie Cashin and Helen Lee, and representatives of the American Silk Institute, the American Viscose Company, Dobeckmun Mills, in addition to local newspaper and department store representatives. This year there was instituted a cooperative program in the Fashion Illustration Department whereby a number of local stores participated in sending high fashion models and the latest in couturier clothes to the School for students to sketch and examine and thereby be introduced to the best of the fashion world.

The Industrial Design Department had several important conferences in the course of the year. Two of these related to planning an exhibition of domestic lighting, where representatives from General Electric, Rohm & Haas, and such outstanding designers as George Nelson and Paul McCobb were among the guests. A significant conference on design management problems was given in cooperation with "Industrial Design Magazine." Participants included Jay Doblin, President, American Society of Industrial Designers; Art BecVar of Westinghouse, and Domenico Mortellito of du Pont.

A young Brazilian artist, Aloisio Magalhaes, was a guest critic at the School for a two-month period. Among the many guest speakers who were invited to visit the School during the year were illustrator Albert Dorne, and fashion illustrator Eric, René Bouché and Evelyn Chennitz. An exciting group of visiting lecturers in the "Art Today" course included writers Gilbert Seldes and Waldo Frank; architect Jack Grisdale, our Brazilian guest instructor, Mr. Magalhaes.

The two symposia had among their panel members playwright Marc Connelly, director Jose Quintero, actress Blanche Yurka, and concert pianist Jeanne Behrend, representing "The Performing Arts"; and Herbert Muller, Peter Müller-Munk, and Oskar Stonorov, illuminating "The Uses of the Past."

The year's activities ended with a Spring Scholarship Party given cooperatively by the Alumni Association of the School, the Associate Committee of Women of the Museum, and the Public Events Committee of the School's Board of Governors. Guests of honor included Tammis Keefe, William Golden, Menalie Kehane and Antonio Frasconi. The master of ceremonies was television's famous Ben Grauer. Raising money for the Scholarship Fund was the goal, which was impressively achieved. Among the attractions offered to an attendance beyond expectations was the exhibition preview of "Young Designers, 1957," and a showing of magnificent gowns designed for the du Pont Company by France's most famous couturiers.

The School's Evening Program, expanded to include more than 450 registrants, and functioning on three evenings each week for 20 weeks, had a most successful season, which ended with a creditable exhibition of the work of the Evening Program students. This program is oriented to the needs of industry for retraining and refresher courses, and towards the serious amateur or professional artist in search of advanced training.

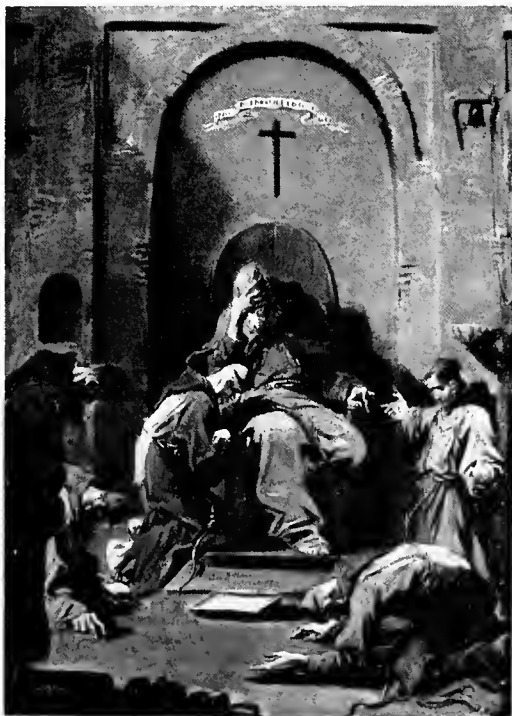

Dean Benson and his staff of 125 have worked to achieve a vital teaching program which recognizes the interdependent relationships of the arts, the sciences, and the humanities as well as to train young people for leadership in the art careers of their choice.

THE SAMUEL S. FLEISHER ART MEMORIAL

A visit some evening or of a Saturday to the Art Memorial is a wonderful experience. One will find an ecclesiastical museum, with sculpture and paintings of distinct Museum quality, and an ever-growing collection of contemporary art; classes in the evening drawn from the over 1600 registered adult students; classes on Saturday drawn from the over 1300 registered children; teachers of ability in the full range and media of art; exhibitions of students and faculty work; lectures on the history of art by Miss Carolyn Pitts. It is a beehive of activity.

A compliment to the work of the Memorial is that given by Miss Pitts on the conclusion of her lecture series:

"I have rarely experienced the kind of atmosphere found at the Fleisher Memorial—a school with a freedom necessary for individual expression—serving people who seriously wished to learn and who were applying ideas in a world, to them, so filled with art. What is too often two separate camps (theory and practice) became one—a situation all too rare. It was a great pleasure to see both serve one end, proving a wider world of experience for the craftsman."

The exposure to ancient art, to contemporary art, to work of fellow craftsmen—painting, modeling, carving, printmaking—we believe serves the purpose so ardently pursued by the late Samuel S. Fleisher, the benefactor.

The Memorial purchased a total of 28 prints and water colors from the Annual Exhibition of The Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. The Memorial is becoming—or rather, is in fact—a Museum in its own right.

THE ASSOCIATE COMMITTEE OF WOMEN

The Associate Committee of Women, under the able leadership of Mrs. Joseph B. Townsend, Jr., lent aid here and there and everywhere to the activities of the Museum and the School.

The Spring Scholarship Party held at the School on May 28th, was a merited success, due largely to the activity of the Associate Committee in collaboration with the Alumni Committee.

We hope they repeat the performance year after year!

With its own funds the Associate Committee awarded part scholarships to six deserving talented students. They contributed the ilex hedge to the "face-lifting" at the front of the School; they raised money for much-needed additions to the School Library.

With respect to the Museum, this energetic group of ladies made possible the success of our new membership drive; they acted as hostesses with the Women's Committee of The Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts at the members' preview of the prints from the collection of the Academy deposited with the Museum; in aid of Mr. McIlhenny's creation of the Tucker china exhibition they were detectives in unearthing some pieces of that china!

We are indeed happy to have their aid in all departments of the Museum and the School.
